Editorial

It is a great achievement by the blessing of Allah and the hard work of my team that the first volume of 'International Journal of Policy Studies – IJPS' has been published, although the whole period's journey was very difficult for our team, but the biggest challenge for the journal is to maintain HEC criteria and quality in the initial years of publishing. We know this is just the beginning of a great journey and our first step. But In sha Allah, we will soon get to the milestones we have set. However, we tried our best and now the journal is in your hands.

Today, research is not only a knowledge but also an art, and research journals work on spreading this art. Pakistan is gradually improving its research and related issues, but it still does not have the same research environment that the developed countries have. 'International Journal of Policy Studies' is a desire and effort to play an active role in Pakistan's research environment, especially in the context of Policy Studies.

Our next target is to recognize the journal from Higher Education Commission of Pakistan.
